3.- METHODOLOGY

In a child-centred curriculum, the subject matter for art must stem from the children's life experiences and from their imagination. Working from observation helps to develop visual awareness and the ability to make art and to respond to art works in a personally meaningful way. Experience in handling a wide range of visual arts materials is essential to achieving these objectives.

Guided discovery is the most appropriate teaching method for the visual arts. Certain practical skills, such as the use of scissors and adhesives, may occasionally require a more direct method. Discovery methods encourage children to discover the expressive possibilities of a variety of materials and tools suitable for a particular task and to experiment with them; to notice colour, design and structure in the environment and to enjoy interpreting what they see in a personal way; to express significant aspects of their lives in visual form and to appraise art works.

The educational projects undertaken, seek to strike a balance between work and play, maintaining a level of fun while working because to create a positive and relax atmosphere is the best way of learning.

4.- ASSESSMENT

Assessment is an integral part of the teaching and learning processes in Art education: teachers continuously assess children's learning and their own teaching strategies, informally, as they observe, discuss and make judgements on work in progress and on completed work. As a way of looking at teacher and pupil performance, assessment makes an important contribution to the overall evaluation of the art programme's effectiveness. It is important to whole school planning and to the development of agreed approaches to art in the primary school.

The evaluation will be formative, continuous and adapted to the particular characteristics of each student. Assessment will be done according to personal ability to perform, effort, and the interest shown during sessions in school. Behaviour and respect for the teacher and classmates will also be taken into account.

Assessment tools include:

- Teacher observation

- Teacher-designed tasks
- Work samples, sketchbooks and projects
- Curriculum profiles.

Qualification Criteria

Artistic performance: 50%

Interest and attitude in class and online: 40%

Through completing our Art coursework, our students will be better able to

1. Creatively and independently problem-solve using a variety of methods while incorporating influences from art history and modern culture.
2. Complete and create a variety of tasks and works in a given time frame in order to prepare to work under a deadline.
3. Understand and apply the elements and principles of art in a variety of ways to create unique and diverse works of art.
4. Understand and interpret the effect society has on art and in return art on society.
5. Understand, interpret, and apply skills and techniques across the spectrum of art in both two and three dimensional mediums.
6. Analyse different areas of art history and apply the techniques, mediums, and ideals to present day.
7. Transfer classroom learning to an array of tasks outside of the classroom, including the school and the surrounding community.

8. Use online images and other resources in an appropriate and ethical manner.
9. Develop an artistic ethic that includes self-motivation, self-reflection, and time-management as working skill-sets.
10. Be able to act equally and equitably as critics and artists in order to create and critique in a cohesive working relationship.
